

dotRetailer.com

dotRetailer.com provide a wide range of e-commerce and web related services including cyber security. From developing its own e-commerce platform with over 19 years of sector experience it designs, creates and builds bespoke web applications, content managed websites and software solutions including those based on Microsoft Azure Cloud. Consultancy services are available for digital marketing, social media, Google analytics and search engine optimisation.

dotRetailer.com has a focus in web application security; ensuring websites and web applications are protected as well as web application firewalls and other cyber security services, such as vulnerability scanning etc.

Clients range from small local retailers, through to larger retail and online brands, local government public sector bodies and international corporate organisations which are based locally in NI, Ireland, UK, USA, Dubai and Qatar. Due to its diverse location in customer dotRetailer.com are able to build multi-lingual sites.

The business was formed in 1998 as the need for high quality website development was sparse and as technology has evolved so has dotRetailer which is what makes them an expert in its field. The business are hoping to evolve more within cyber security and emerging we technology.

Ards Business Centre provided appropriate workspace for the business after being based in Belfast for 15 years and Ards has proved as a convenient location for staff and client. "I think the idea of being a technology company and having to be in Belfast is a misconception".

